“ I wanted to share a memory for Hunter. Your mom was one of my best friends in the 7th and 8th grade. She had a taste for adventure and a knack for arguing her case. She wanted to be a defense attorney back in those days because she was "so good at arguing." And I mean that in the best of ways. She was a great friend who loved and accepted just about anyone. She wasn't one to be too judgmental or to be nasty toward others. I never knew her to be that way at all. I hope these fond memories stay with you as you seek out adventures of your own. I hear you are in college now. When you finish, I know she will be beaming down at you from above.
