“ Chip, I was poking around on the internet when I saw this sad news about your son. I remember your family with the four little children at U.Va. They were a light in a world that seemed to regard a big family as a "mistake." Even though I never knew Ben very well, I was touched by his life. My deepest sympathies to you at this time of sorrow. “ Words cannot express our sorrow for your loss of your beloved Ben. Although we did not know him, I feel we almost did through his touching tribute. What a wonderful young man of God. I know your family takes solace knowing that he is in the presence of his Lord. The pain, however, remains great and our prayers are with you, his family, and his friends.

“ Chip, Carey, and family,

I just finished talking with Jennifer Soderquist and she informed me of the news about Ben. Although I am sure there are wonderful memories to cling to during this time of sadness, I know that the loss of a family member creates a void that can only be filled by our loving Creator, Comforter, and Heavenly Father.

Please know that I am lifting you up and asking God to wrap His loving arms around you and comfort you in a mighty way. The sadness being felt on earth due to Ben's home going pales in comparison to the joyous celebration going on in Heaven with Ben's arrival!

As parents, we know God entrusts into our care, for a short time, children (special blessings) who forever change our lives. I can't begin to imagine the joy God experiences when one of His children comes home to be with Him forever. We can all look forward to that special day when we will be reunited with our loved ones who have gone to their eternal home to live with our Heavenly Father.

May God provide all you need and bless you at this time,

“ I write these few words from my heart to comfort the parents of Benjamin.

*Though I don't know how he passed away, reading his passing away which was brought to my attention by Bro. Ken Daughters, really moved my heart. As my daily profession is to deal with so many young people coming to Wayne State University. Though his death is a great loss, God fulfilled His mission through the short life of Benjamin. It is hard to understand from this side of heaven, we will truly understand when we are all with him one day. I always thank God for the Blessed Hope that we have, one day we will meet at His feet with all our near and dear ones. It is my humble prayer that God comfort your hearts and give you strength and grace to bear this loss. With much prayers, “ Ben was a great guy, and I am shocked and sad to see that he has passed away. He was a good friend, but a better person, and always gave a helping hand. I will miss Ben, we may have had our differences in High School but we mature once in college and our friendship grew. I only wish we had more time for our friendship to grow. My thoughts are with the family.

“ Dear Chip,

I was deeply saddened to learn of Ben's passing. It is so hard to imagine why you must suffer the loss of such a wonderful son in the prime of his youth. Be assured that you, Carey and your family will be in our prayers.

Thank you for your leadership in Christian higher education. I can only imagine that this mantle of responsibility will be heavier as you must also bear the burden of grief. I pray that our Lord will supply you with strength and grace to continue the good work he has given you. I pray that you will find a measure of comfort and joy to balance the grief as you experience the good memories of Ben.
