“ This is the last of my Grandmothers and even tho she was 96 years old she will be very missed.I feel for my dad paul to lose his last parent because I know how hard it was for him to lose his dad at such a young age of 62 and I know how hard it will be for me to lose either of my parents no matter what there age, they are still our parents and our friends and they will always mean the world to us.Trying to come to grips with the reality of non- immortality is the hardest thing for everyone, but knowing that God gives us that chance after death, gives us hope and peace to know that those gone before us, we shall meet again in heaven. Rest in peace Bertha and we will all see you in heaven when God is done with us here.
