“ I have known Billy over 30 years. I first met him when they had the fruit stand, then through Natasha, I got to know him even more. He was always joking around and giving me a hard time. I will miss him, but I know he is in a much better place. Praying for the family!

“ Billy walked in the fellowship hall at church, and I gave him a hug. He said, " I'm all hot and sweaty." I told him he smelled good, like salt and dirt. He laughed, I said he reminded me of my grandpa. We were having a work bee that day and Billy had just came in from planting flowers. Crystal Carr
