“ Our mother, Carol Sue Daniel, was a kindhearted, caring person. Even when she was struggling through life's all-to-often difficult times herself, she would still do whatever she could do to help my brother, Bobby, and I.

She was the thoughtful sort of person who would send out Christmas cards to Bobby and my friends each year even though she hardly knew them.

I feel we never told her often enough how much we loved her. One of my biggest regrets though is that neither Bobby nor I gave her any grandchildren to spend time with.

Her favorite color was yellow. She enjoyed conversing with her family and friends—both in person and on the phone. She enjoyed watching old western movies—especially those featuring John Wayne. She enjoyed listening to country music and, especially, she loved listen to Elvis Presley music. And, of course, she was always happy to spend time with my brother and I—even if it was just something simple like watching a DVD movie, or television show, or having a holiday meal together.

She spent her whole life working hard just to get by and was never able to relax, rest, and just enjoy life as she grew older. There was always some struggle or hardship on the coming horizon. At least now she can finally get her well-deserved rest.

Bobby and I love her dearly and she will greatly be missed.

We love you, mother. Rest in peace.

“Granny D, she was the cute as a bug in the rug. I remember going to dinner with her she had to interloop her arms with mine and was so very joyous and happy to be having dinner with us and being able to see me. Granny was married to my grandfather Cecil Daniel. She never forgot a birthday she never forgot Christmas and she never forgot me on Valentine's Day I received a gift from her every single year a lovely card with a message always saying I love you. I wish we could have spent more time together. Rest in peace my granny D, one day soon we will meet with Glee. My condolences to my uncle Bobby and my uncle Ronnie and the rest of the family.
