“ WHEN CHERYL WAS BORN AND I TOOK HER TO MY MOTHER'S HOUSE. AND IT WAS A GOOD THING I DIDN'T HAVE A CLUE HOW TO TAKE CARE OF A BABY. SHE CRIED EVERY NIGHT, THEN WANTED TO SLEEP DURING THE DAY. MOM SAID KEEP HER AWAKE, WELL THAT IS EASIER SAID THAN DONE. MANY NIGHTS MOM WOULD COME GET CHERYL AND PUT HER TO SLEEP AND I GOT SOME REST. I TOLD MOM I THINK THEY GAVE ME THE WRONG BABY. BUT FINALLY I FIGURED HOW TO PUT HER TO SLEEP. AND OUR LIFE FINALLY GOT ON THE RIGHT TRACK.

“ Cheryl was the first person to ask me to sit with her and her friends at their lunch table. I moved here in seventh grade and I felt so alone in this small town. It seemed everyone knew each other and had no interest in welcoming anyone new. She has always been kind to me and because she was nice to me when others didn't even speak to me, she has held a special place in my heart. She inspired me to show that kindness to the new kids that came after me, to be the first one to invite them to sit with me at lunch.

“ I don't have a lot of memories with Cheryl. It's sad that when grandma died, we all kinda lost that connection. But she was always nice to me. We rode the same school bus for a little while when we were kids, and one day someone was running their mouth to me. Lol Cheryl put a stop to that real quick. The last time I saw her, was a few years ago at Wal-Mart. She saw me and got a big smile on her face and gave me a big hug. She was excited to show off her pretty smile because she had gotten some work done on her teeth. I always thought she was beautiful. No matter how much time went in between us seeing each other, when we did, we were always family and always happy to see each other, and always hugged. I always have and always will love you beautiful. And I'll miss you until our next hug...

“ This is my only daughter. I got to pick her from all the daughters in the world. She was 5. She had a father, but I thought she needed a daddy too.

When she was 12 or 13 she wanted to play softball. Her mother, aunt and uncles played ball. I had never coached, but the team she was on needed one. It was me. All the girls and I learned so much. We learned more than softball, we learned about teams and life. We learned everyone should play.

She grew up, got married, had kids and life got tough.

I stuck with her until the end. She new God and she is in His arms now.

I will always love her.

I have such fond childhood memories of visiting Aunt Sharon and my cousins. Cheryl was always so patient and kind. My sisters and I are 5 and 7 years younger. She didn't just tolerate us but spent quality time when we visited. I remember countless hours of playing school. We were the students and she the teacher. Cheryl continues to teach us something...life on this earth is fragile and often too short. I'm so thankful to have heaven to look forward to.

I love you Aunt Sharon and am praying for you.
