“ There are so many memories but it would take all day to write them. He was always pulling pranks on the staff. He was so sweet and kind and always greeted me everyday. He was like family and I will never forget his smile, his laughter, and his sence of humor. He will always be missed he and others made me want to be at work everyday. I could be having the worst day ever but once I seen him my day got bright. He had that effect on people. Always was there to cheer people up. Rest easy my friend.
