“ Ed Dale was a man who was a beacon of light of what it means to be a good husband and father. I don't know another person so devoted to developing great long standing memories to his family. He was as close to what we are to be in an earthly form as I could imagine. He was always calm and collected regardless of the situation and never faltered. He was able to do this while being humble and sincere. He lived a life devoted to his family, the lord, hard work ethic, and being a true genuine person that will go unmatched. His grounded personality helped me stabilize myself during my early adult life. I spent a third of my early adult life along side this great man at the Toyota parts department. We had many laughs along the way. We had alot of inside jokes, a long standing Logan Sucks<>Ed Sucks battle that is a legend in of itself, amongst other great fun. Truth be known, there are probably some residual Logan Sucks<>Ed Sucks evidence still around the Toyota of Fayetteville Parts Department to this day. I used to tell random customers and new hires he was originally from Australia and afterwards when they would ask him about it he would laugh it off and explain the long-standing joke. Heck, we even bought and tried some Vegemite one time and realized it is absolutely disgusting! We will meet again my man as we know the lord savior Jesus Christ and his promise for salvation. They must have needed a heck of a drummer, Toyota parts guy, or example of a good human in the flesh up in heaven to have called you up so soon. Until we meet again Ed! Logan C.

“ My deepest sympathy to Kory, Allison, and Levi, and family, .. Kory I never got to meet Ed, but I felt like I knew him as I am Donald Rodden’s friend and fiancée’ ... Donald spoke so highly of him as Don started at the Toyota parts manager position in December 1st 2004... I can’t tell you how many times and how often he spoke of Ed and their crazy fun and terribly busy days they went through together.. Donald is very sad to know that each tomorrow will not have Ed there to be a part of the guys day at the work place, He has given Donald many wonderful memories to cherish and hold on to and he and myself will hold his memories close to our hearts.. he will never be forgotten and of course never be replaced in any way with us.... Please know he is and was genuinely loved, cherished, and we love you so much.. bless you and your family Kory... may he be at an eternal peace now and our lord give you and family comfort for always//

“ Edgar was an amazing person to work with and friend. He had an old barn fall down once at his farm where he cared for his grandmother when he moved out from California in the 90’s. He let me come pick pieces of wood, old hay loft ladders and sheet metal from the old roof to reuse. I still have the ladder with blankets stored on it. I gave one half to a friend of ours since it was about 12 ft tall. Ed was always helpful to me as a salesman and into my management career. A very kind, calm and smart man.
