Thank you so much for sharing Eli's story. I remember hearing about him when he was a small child. I guess I thought everything was ok. I had no clue what Eli had to go through on a daily basis nor what you guys were going through. I am so sorry! I wish I would have got to share a little piece of his life. I am sure David is enjoying him now. God bless you and keep you! Esther

“ *Mike, I am so sorry for your loss. A parent should never have to bury their child. But, God knows what He's doing, and may you and your family find peace and comfort in His arms at this time. Eli, I guess, was just too good for this old world, and our Fatherust have needed him up there in glory land. Praying for you all.
In Christ,

Dear cousins, I know that Eli will live on in your hearts through the precious memories he has left. God has promised strength in times of sorrow. I pray that God grant you peace through those memories, in knowing that Eli's suffering is over and that God himself has accepted his soul into the peaceful loving boundaries of heaven. Carol R.
