“ What a wonderful person! That smile said it all. There are but few that had, or has his style. Always willing to help. He protected my daughter from deaths door step one night. I will never forget him and what he did. I only wished that I could of been there to comfort him in his time of need. He was good to cover his dismay with that radiant smile. May you continue that smile as you look over us and protect those as a guardian angel as you did here on earth. I trully appreciate what you done and I love you too! ”

“ Though we did not know him well the love that our mother and his family and friends express for him and the stories we have heard of how wonderful and outgoing a person he was makes us wish even more that we had got the oppertunity to get to know him better. though sadly we know that is not possible we can atleast find hope in that his memorys and the lives he touched will live on. we love you all.

“ We are so sorry to hear of your loss. Losing a child no matter the age is a very difficult thing. We lost a child two years ago. So speaking from experience it does get easier but the memories will remain forever. Chemo went to school with my kids and we lived around the corner so got to know him well. Always had a smile on his face and kept us laughing. Our thoughts and prayers are with you.

“ We are so very sorry to hear of Chemo's passing. A loss of a loved one is never easy. He was a great friend, always smiling and making someone laugh. We all had a lot of fun and crazy times together that I will never forget! His memories will stay in our minds forever, and the love he gave us will always be in our hearts. There isnt realy any words that can be spoken at a time such as this that will ease your pain, it will just take time. Just know that we are praying God will give you strength and comfort at such a difficult time.
