“ The story goes WE all miss you very much and its still a hard trying to adjust to everything but what I will always remember this the most and never forget is how you never had anything bad to say about anyone and would do anything for them as well, even if it hurt your toes to do so. I know my toes still hurt from the tap dancing lesson you gave me, (: when i learned and you taught me its not about how tough you are that makes you a man its the amends of letting things go and always staying positive and moving forward everyday and thank you for giving my man hood back that day even if they were sore for a few days. I think about you everyday and all the great things you instilled in me without teaching me or telling me anything , very true blue and very amazing. Thank you for never being negative or never allowing me to ever hear anything negative at all that's why your still the man to beat in my eyes but this is also drives me and inspires me to be half the man you were. I know you are that guiding light for everyone the same way you were for me and I LOVE YOU and thanks to everyone who has supported the family during this time I LOVE YOU as well. Thank you and God Bless. Michael...

“ I am sitting here thinking of you and missing you very much wishing I could share my new experiences with you. Adam arrived 3 days after your passing. I miss you so much. I feel very alone without you here. I wish Adam could have known you. You are always on my mind. Its very hard. I love you so much. I will always be your baby girl. Only yours. I try yo focus on being like u but also like myself as you always said. Be yourself. I wish I would have come to see u like u asked instead of waiting. I LOVE YOU! I MISS YOU! I hope you will look down on me and be so proud
I wish I could hug you. Tell you all about life right now. Its hard holidays are coming an your birthday. Boys and I talk about u all the time. Well..work starting. Love u daddy. Miss u
Love your BABY GIRL Stacy

“ Jimmy and I grew up in Highfill a 1/2 mile from each other. Even though we hadn't seen each other in several years my favorite memories growing up were playing basketball for hours with him and terrorizing the streets of Highfill in Tommy's old Ford pickup and going to Siloam in Jimmy's first car a 1968 gold Ford Torino. My deepest sympathy to the Reynold's and Saindon family. Jim Blankenship
