“ Kyle was a light. I am missing him so much. His presence, his energy, his dirty mouth, him telling me I would be the only woman he would ever marry, lol.....i just....miss him, and I'm still feeling verylost and somewhat guilty....anyway, I have some great memories. At work one night we were very busy, and he dropped a $100 bill in the midst of the madness. A few of us stopped everything to help find it, all the while keeping it hush hush before the resident thief found it.....i went to the dish pit.... Kyle would ALWAYS take people's dirty trays of dishes....mainly me...lol...so I started digging in the trash cans. No luck. I went tobyend my tables did a couple circles looking on the floor for the bill, and something told me....go back to the trash, so, I did. I put on gloves and starting digging. Boom. There it was. I couldn't believe his luck!! Be was quite relieved, obviously, and promised me a firm spanking later after trying to give me $50 for finding it. This guy. "No, Kyle," I looked at him and laughed..."I'll take it out of your hide at some point." A few days later, he shoved $40 I'm my pocket, I would later find, and he told me there was no way he was taking it back, so, I wavered. This started an amazing friendship.

“ I have known Kyle for only a short time, but during this short time he has touched me very greatly. He always brought a ray of sunshine anytime he would visit my home. If I was having a bad day when he left I was having a very good day. Even though I knew him for such a short time he was a blessing to me and he will be greatly missed.

“ *Kyle always had a smile on his face and could make you laugh at the drop of a hat. He had spent much of his high school years hanging out and becoming one of the family. I wish you all comfort and peace during this difficult time. Kyle will be missed by many.
