“ Clyde always had us laughing. Back in my teenage life I went fishing with him and my dad. We were down between low water and Spavinaw in a small boat. I was sitting in the middle so I could only turn to my right or left to fish. Clyde was behind me running the motor and that put dad in the front. All of a sudden we heard Clyde owww, hold hold up! We looked over at him and dad was casting out , went to far back with his pole and line and hooked Clyde in the nose. It didn't get to deep so was able to get it out. Fast forward to some 30 plus years later and dad, Clyde and I was sitting around laughing and talking about that day, Clyde mentioned how I hooked him. Ummm it wasn't me it was dad!!! Clyde thought all these years it was me when it was dad that hooked him. Lots of belly laughs over that!! Love and miss you Clyde but I know there was a big reunion up there.
