“ Sue was an amazing icon for the entire community. She represented determination, accomplishment, religion, family, and a role model for all in such a classy way. We appreciate all the lessons and guidance she provided in GAs, SSchool and Vacation Bible School. Her one story she told that sticks out is, when Loy had severed his finger at the saw mill. She said she stay composed through all the chaos, blood, and the getting him to the emergency room and treated. The funny part was she stay calm and so collected through it all till it was completely over, then she fainted. Crazy loveable lady!! We all looked up to her as she set such a good example for us all to pattern our lives after. Truly and inspiration. Anita Daniel Gordon
