“ You Had a Smile That Could Light Up Any Room
You had a smile that could light up any room,
One that was taken from us too soon.
So many of us still wondering why,
You felt as if you needed to say goodbye.
They say that in time we'll start to heal,
But right now none of this seems real.
You always lived your life without fear,
My heart still aches without you here.
You always had a way to make us laugh,
Your joy was steady—never just half.
Seeing our old memories makes my heart ache,
The tears come easy, and hard to fake.
I'm finding it hard to get through these days,
Lost in this ever-growing haze.
But your spirit still dances deep in our hearts,
A song of comfort that never departs.
Though we long to hear your voice once more,
We feel you close like never before.
Perhaps you walk on streets of gold,
Wrapped in peace and gently told—
So until we meet beyond this veil,
Where joy will lift what grief made pale,
Know our hearts will hold you near,
In every smile, in every tear.

Sister Sue, I love you more than the tongue can tell 💜

“ She had such a beautiful soul—always searching for deeper meaning in life. There was a quiet strength in the way she saw the world, always seeking understanding and offering love along the way.

I feel truly grateful to have known and loved her. Her presence was a gift, and the memories we shared will stay with me always. I will lovingly pass along her stories to her children, so they grow up surrounded by the warmth of who she was.

May she rest peacefully, her spirit held close in our hearts.
