“ I will never forget a funny story Marc told us while working at Alpine, night shift. Apparently, Marc installed a new dishwasher for his wife, being winter time there was snow on the back porch. With all the snow, Marc, left the dishwasher on the porch. After a while his wife wanted the old dishwasher out of her way, Marc told there was to much snow and she replied with "if it was an engine the snow wouldn't be an problem"!! We all laughed so hard. I am so sorry for your loss! Ed Farnham
