“ I could say a million things, but I only need to say this, I know Michael and I didn't always see things the same way, I wish that things could have been a little different. If there was a way to trade places with him I wouldn't hesitate for a second. It seems the best always burn brightest, but on the downside they leave us all too soon. I love this child as if he were my own, as I do his brother. I will never forget the joy Michael gave me and all of the laughter. There is a void in my life now that can never be filled and more sorrow than I could have imagined. On occasion while shopping I catch myself putting things in the cart that was a normal item he liked. I looked on a shelf in my kitchen last night and realized I had three bottles of ranch dressing. I guess in a way he still is keeping me laughing. I can remember when I got Michael a job running a cutting torch where I was working, against my advice he wore a tank top to work, outside in the middle of summer. He got one of the worst sunburns I had ever seen, but he gritted his teeth and kept going in day after day in the heat. Michael was a wonderful child, just as he was a wonderful young man. He had more to offer than he ever knew and gave more than he would ever know. I wish I could have been around him for a few more decades, maby I could have learned how to be a little more like him. Good bye for now Michael, I am sure we will meet again in a different setting, maby then I can be the student, and you the teacher.

“ Although I did not know Michael, I know what it is like to have a son. A son is a mother's champion and defender; a representation of what is strong, true, and right in a family. Even though his physcial person is no longer with you, his spirit and influence will continue to ripple through the lives of those he loved.

“ Michael, you are the most loving, intelligent, kindest, funniest people I ever got the honor of knowing. When I heard you were gone, I couldn't stop weeping, then I remembered something I heard a long time ago. It fits you so well, so here it goes:

*Remember me with smiles and laughter,
For that's the way
I'll remember you all
But, if you can only remember me with tears,
Then don't remember me at all.*

Of course we will still remember you with tears, because losing someone like you demands that of us. But I will remember you with laughter, when the tears become too many, and my heart wants to be happy again. I love you Mikie, aka Krispy, and I will remember you, and miss you, ALWAYS. Love and Miss you with all my heart, forever, aunt Becki

“ *Dear Michael,
I will miss you so much. I know we weren't always the best of friends but I always knew deep down inside you really was a great person, a very kind loving, affectionate, person who always had a way of making the day better. I can remember in high school people thought I was wired because here I was dating your brother but first thing when I saw you I would ask where my hug for the day was. I really miss that it made my day just a little easier to handle. I am really sorry I wasn't there at the last but I know that no matter where you are now you understand why I didn't come around. I really did miss being in all of your lives you was my second family. I will always remember you! Love always, Jennifer*

“ I remember what it is like to lose a child and there are no words of comfort for that. The Lord was my only comfort as he held my heart and led the way. Praying you receive that same comfort in your time of need. I didnt know Michael very well.. met him when he was very small & then about a year ago. He was very talented & had a great personality. His life was short but God was ready for him. Please let me know if I can help in any way.
