“ This really broke my heart! I am so sorry you're going through this, but remember, it's only for a little while. you will see him again. He will be as beautiful as you remember. I don't think there's a pain as bad as losing a child but you can get through this as long as you have faith in GOD! If you would like to talk to someone please write, call, or email me. take care and know that there is someone who cares about what you're going through.
