“ Something get bugging me about doing a web search for the past month, and finally did tonight, now I can barely sit here and type. I never really kept contact much with the family as I got older, but when we were young we were close. Michael is my brother. Right now I can't even think straight as this news comes to me from a web search, and he has been gone for nearly a month. Maybe this is my fault, I didn't think that I was that hard to find, that I never heard of this, but maybe I was.

I am so sorry brother, I love you<3 Evelyn
