“ My Great-grandmother taught me how important family closeness is. And even though I have lived hours away for years, I have remained extremely close with my grandfather, Pa. I have been fortunate enough to see him once every 3 or 4 months over the past 10 years. I know he looked forward to my calls, he always had lots to tell me. His death has hit our family hard, and I know it's still sinking in for some of us. I usually call him on Thursdays, and today I was unable to make that call. When I go home in July I will be unable to take him for a drive in the country. He had talked about visiting this fall. I would have enjoyed having him here. I will forever miss your sense of humor, Pa. I will miss our talks and our drives. I hope you have found peace in the Garden. I'll see you again. I love you, Pa.
