“ You were the best of all the best friends. I loved you because you were always honest with me, sometimes brutally honest. But that was ok because you made me want to be a better person. We were always laughing about something to the point crying. We had so many adventures and misadventures. We have always been connected even when we hadn't seen each other in a while. You were my maid of honor... seems fitting you will be laid to rest on my 42nd anniversary. We're still connected. My children loved you. They chose you to be their godmother. You were such a vibrant and beautiful person... such a force of nature. I will always remember you and love. Rest easy, my friend.
