“ Dear Shali and Aaron,

You don't know us, but my heart goes out to you and your family in the loss of your baby girls. A few of our close friends have experienced stillbirth, but I can only imagine what you're going through. Please know that I am praying for you, that you will know God's grace and comfort. I am so sorry.

*Very sincerely,

“ Shali, I'm sure you don't remember me, but i went to school with your mom. I am so sorry for the loss of your baby girls. I too lost a son stillborn 20 years ago, and this is something that time will heal, but you will never forget. What gets me thru (especially at this time of year -holidays and his passing) is to know that my son is in such a wonderful better and beautiful place that God has provided for him. Trust in the Lord for he knows what he is doing, and his will, he will give you beautiful children here on earth. If you ever want to talk, or a shoulder to cry on, I will ALWAYS be available. I still too cry at times for my son. Hang in there sweetie, and you will be okay. God Bless You and Your Family
