“ My deepest sympathy to the Elliott family on Wanda Lou's passing. We cousins all had such fun in our younger years....at Grandma Littrell's, your house, my house. Weekends & summers together. Happier times.

Although, I was to young to understand Wanda's disabilities fully, I remember how she would always sit real close to me & struggle to get her words out. She was far more intellegent than most people assumed. She knew exactly what she wanted to say, but sometimes the words just wouldn't come. She was far more intuitive & filled with empathy at a young age than most people are over a lifetime. When she sat by me and talked, she would always gently hold my hand or rest her hand on my arm & look me straight in the eye. She wanted & needed to give & feel a personal connection with whomever she talked. An admirable quality that I wish I had appreciated more when I was younger.

After 30 years, I did talk to her by phone in 2011 for about an hour. It was amazing how far she had progressed over our adulthood. I will cherish & remember that conversation forever!

You can fly with the angels now, Wanda!❤️❤️

Your cousin, Lindy Littrell
